Presenting "Hurricane Ida: Information CPAs Need to Know to Help Their Clients Navigate Insurance Claims" at the Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants' Forensic Litigation & Valuation Services Conference

The presentation will focus on issues that are impacting many businesses owners in Louisiana after Hurricane Ida, including business interruption coverage, methods of valuing business interruption losses, common defenses to business interruption claims, extra expenses, special policy limitations, and special coverages (e.g. loss of utilities, contingent business interruption, and civil authority). This presentation will help CPAs better advise their clients on issues related to insurance coverage, business interruption, and other losses suffered as a result of the hurricane.

Kerry Miller and Blair Schilling are experienced trial lawyers who regularly represent business owners against the biggest companies in the world, including insurance companies.
